What were Aztec houses like inside?

In Aztec time, ^{most} people had one storey houses and most had two storey houses. Right in centre of the house, where the fire stoves. Also Aztec houses haven't got a chimney so the smoke had to go out the open doorway. In the Aztec time they didn't have doors or windows. And at night, they didn't have proper beds so they slept on reed beds, not real beds.

Walt: maintain a point of view

Dear diary,

This morning, I asked my Dad to buy me a book but he refused. Horrified, I decided that I was going to sneak out of the house when everyone was at work to go to the library. It was only ten minutes away, which meant I had two glorious hours to devour the interesting books.

As I entered the library, I was overwhelmed by all the books in the place. Then I bumped into Mrs Phelps at the desk. She asked if she could help me find the Children's box.

Good start Alex

April 7th 1974

I ^{was} ^{attracted} because I had ^{to} go to change the world.

I was up this morning ^{hoping} I was going to ^{make} history, ^{while} ^{others} ^{live} their ordinary lives and ^{days}, I was going to do the most incredible and insane thing anyone could dream of. I felt like a dare devil about to fulfill my dream. No one could take my freedom from me.

I took my last step I was thinking to myself, do I give up now? Shall I do it? Should I do it? I am going to do it. I knew no-one could stop me, no-one could tell me to get off; no-one will stop my dream. I could feel the gentle breeze going through my hair. I felt like a bird flying free. I knew my ^{limbs} ^{up} ^{the} ^{wire}, I ^{saw} ^{my} ^{self}. ~~stood~~ I ^{heard} the ^{rotor} ^{up} helicopter I knew it was the end...

I knew I would survive it but it wasn't. All there was between me and my balancing pole was death. I could smell the gear in the crowd. Each ^{step} ^{knowing} the ^{fact} ^{that} I would give my strength, hope and lots more. I couldn't ask myself: what is fear? I'm inspired to more curious to explore. I'm so happy that my destiny is completely known. I know I can do anything. I ask me why do you risk death? for me it is life... But dangerous long to take that step

My head was full of doubt - I don't even know if I can take the first step. If I don't do it, my dream wouldn't be fulfilled. I was thinking to myself, do I give up now? Shall I do it? Should I do it? I am going to do it! I knew no-one could stop me; no-one could persuade me to climb off; no-one will stop my dream. I could feel the gentle breeze going through my hair. I feel like a bird feeling free.

I felt a gulp of fear as a helicopter goes past. It came so close that I thought it was the end. I stumbled dangerously only just saving myself with my balancing pole. All there is between me and my balancing pole is death...

WALT: Infer and discuss character's feelings and thoughts
Identify themes within stories

Greatness is about being brave, achieving your own goals and helping other people. I think to become a great person is about standing up for yourself. I think Henry Finch will become great by thinking of a plan to get rid of the Beast.
